Basics

Very Important!!!

- Only counsel who have been appointed to represent indigent clients should participate in the time study.
- Before you begin using the timekeeping application, please review all of the instructions and other notices on the MIDC project website (http://michiganidc.gov/midc-and-rand-caseload-study/).
- Start keeping track of your case-related work time on Monday, June 25th and continue through Sunday, August 19th.
- If you feel you cannot continue to participate in the time study after you've begun on Monday, June 25th, please let Jonah Siegal at MIDC or Nick Pace at RAND know immediately.
- If you are unable to begin recording your time starting on June 25th but still wish to participate, please go ahead and start using the application at your soonest opportunity, but also let Jonah Siegal at MIDC or Nick Pace at RAND know when you began to track your time.
- Contact info Jonah Siegal: jsiegel@michiganidc.gov; phone: 1-517-657-3062 \ Nick Pace: nickpace@rand.org; phone 1-310-393-0411 ext. 6176
- If you have issues of a technical nature, please contact JusticeWorks by email at support@justiceworks.com or by toll-free phone at 1-888-696-9357. Tell the technician that you are involved in the Michigan time study. Support is provided between 7:00am and 7:00pm Central Time.

Project Scope and Design

- It is absolutely critical for you to record all case-related time expended during the eight week study period, regardless of the day of the week, time of the day, or where it occurred. Failing to make sure that the application has all hours you've spent on your clients' behalf will result in a distorted picture of the resources needed to deliver effective representations.
- The sole goal of the time study is to figure out how much time is currently being spent by all attorneys on adult indigent criminal defense matters in the state of Michigan.
- Only publicly funded representations for adults who are unable to afford counsel in the following types of cases in Michigan trial level courts are part of the time study. In other words, if your case doesn't fit the profile below, you do not have to record the time you spent on it during the study period, nor do you have to register it on the application.

Types of Adult Indigent Defendant Representations in This Study

Homicide (including Felony Murder)

Criminal Sexual Conduct (all degrees)

Other Class A Offenses Not Involving Felony Murder or Sexual Assault

Other High-Severity Felonies (B, C, D)

Low-Severity Felonies (E, F, G, H) & 2 Year High Court Misdemeanors

Misdemeanors with Potential Sentences of over 93 Days

Misdemeanors with Potential Sentences of 93 Days or Less

Probation Violations

Other adult criminal indigent defense matter

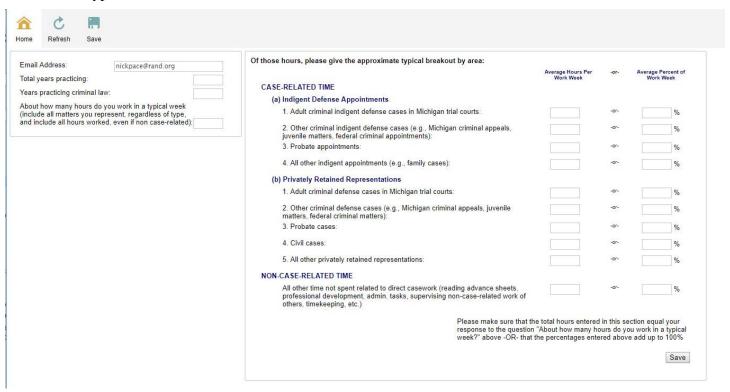

- What's not included?
 - 1) All other indigent appointments not described in the table above such as...
 - a) Appeals
 - b) Juvenile matters
 - c) Family cases
 - d) Federal cases
 - e) Cases in states other than Michigan
 - f) Probate appointments
 - 2) All privately retained representations of any type
- The time and activity information you provide during the eight week data collection period will be used to calculate average attorney hours over the lifetime of cases of various types. To get that information, we need you to record your time for every eligible case you are working on from Monday, June 25th through Sunday, August 19th, even if that case began before June 25th (which most cases in this study will have) or if it remains active after August 19th. In other words, it is not important when the file was first assigned to you or when you've completed your services for your client; if you are working on an eligible case (see table above) at any time during the eight week study period, then your time needs to be recorded for that case.

General Rules for the Application

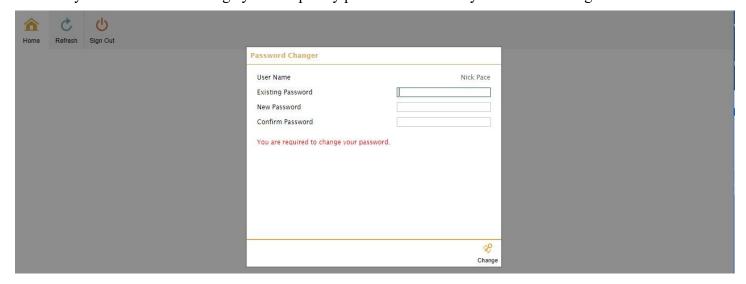

- The website address you received from RAND is unique to you alone. Your user ID and password will not work at a web address assigned to one of your colleagues.
- Always use the large buttons on the top of each screen in the application to move through the website rather than your browser's "forward" and "back" buttons. Use of the browser's navigation keys may result in loss of information you've just entered or an unwanted exit from the website.
- If you are entering case or time information into the application you must always save the entry before moving onto another page.
- A mobile version of the application is available for most smartphones and tablets. Additional information about portable versions of the application will be found on the MIDC website.

Initial Log-In

- To access the on-line timekeeping application, enter the unique website address you were given in the time study instruction email you received on Wednesday, June 20 into the web browser of your choice. Once you are at the log-in screen, enter the User Name and Password that were also included in the June 20th email. If you have misplaced any log-in information, contact Nick Pace at RAND.
- On your first log-in you'll be taken to the Attorney Information Screen (see screenshot below) where you'll provide some information about yourself and estimate the average number of hours you work each week on different types of cases.

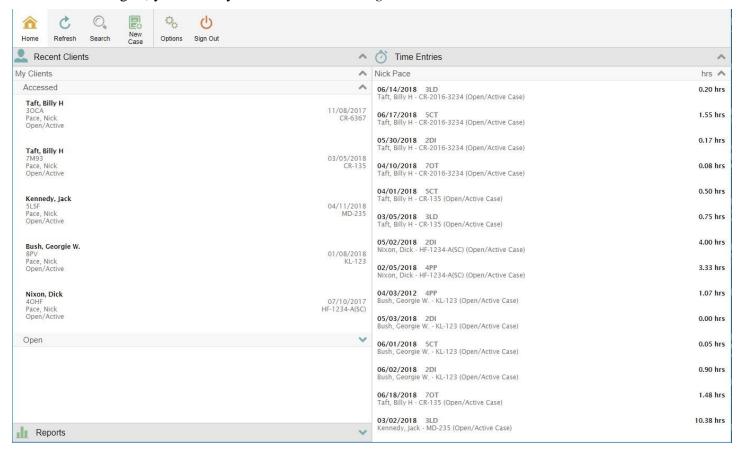

• Next you'll be asked to change your temporary password to one of your own choosing:

Registering New Cases

After that first log-in, you'll always start in the Home Page:

Though the example above has a number of cases already registered, you will need to add each case you work on during the study period to the time study database. To do that, click the New Case Button at the top of the Home Page. Doing so will bring up a "Name Search" pop-up to determine whether the client associated with the case you want to register is already in the system. Enter the last and first name of your client and click the "magnifying glass" icon on the right ride of the pop-up:

If the name you've entered is not found in the system, you'll be given the opportunity to create a new case for this new client by clicking the "cross" icon on the right side of the pop-up:

If the name you've entered is in fact found in the system (or if a "wildcard" search has turned up a number of potential matches, as it has in the screenshot below), you can create a new case for an existing client by clicking the "file cabinet" icon to the right of name of the existing client you want:

Now the Client Screen appears, with the default display being the "Case" tab (shown at the bottom). You can now enter in information about the case by filling in boxes or using dropdown menus for the case number, the type of case (see case type list below), the court where the case is located, the appointment type (contract\assigned counsel or public defender), the date your office first opened up this new case (which is likely to be the day you were appointed to the case), and the current status ("Open\Active" is the default; there is no reason to change it until you stop representing your client on this matter).

What if you know some other attorney in your office worked on the same case before you and is likely to have already registered the case in the application? Unfortunately, you'll have to create the case again for your own records, but making sure the spelling of the client's name and case number matches what the prior attorney entered for his or her case will allow us to merge the time information later.

After you've entered that information, click the Save Button at the top of the screen:

Time Study Case Types

Trial Court Level Case Type (Adult Clients Only)	Code
Homicide (including Felony Murder)	1HOM
Criminal Sexual Conduct (all degrees)	2CSC
Other Class A Offenses Not Involving Felony Murder or Sexual Assault	3OCA
Other High-Severity Felonies (B, C, D)	4OHF
Low-Severity Felonies (E, F, G, H) & 2 Year High Court Misdemeanors	5LSF
Misdemeanors with Potential Sentences of over 93 Days	6M94
Misdemeanors with Potential Sentences of 93 Days or Less	7M93
Probation Violations	8PV
Other adult criminal indigent defense matter	9OAC

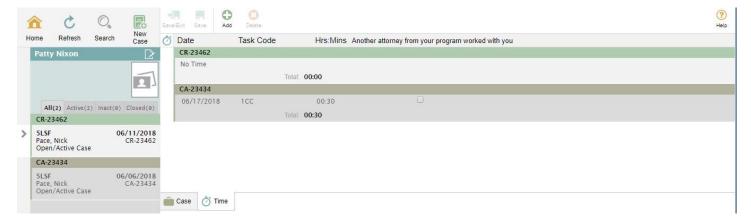

If unsure, use the most severe (in terms of potential punishment) charge filed against your client when deciding between categories (that should be category that first appears in the list). In addition, if the client has multiple charges that would fall into multiple categories, use the category that first appears on the list.

Entering Time Info For A Newly Registered Case

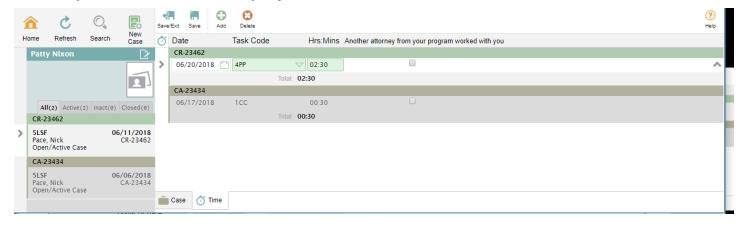

Once you've saved the information for the new case (and not to worry: you never have to register that same case again), two things happen: First, all of the other cases that have been registered for this same client now are listed on the left side of the Client Screen. Second, a new "Time" tab option appears at the bottom of the Client Screen. It will look something like this:

Clicking the "Time" tab will put the Client Screen into timekeeping mode. In the example below, the new case (case number CR-23462) with no existing time entries is already selected, as evidenced by the little arrow on the left side of the screen:

Clicking the Add Button will bring up a blank time entry for the selected case, and then you can enter the date that the activity took place in the "Date" box, use a dropdown menu to indicate the activity type that took place (in the "Task Code" box; see table of activity types below), enter the minutes (or hours & minutes) spent performing the activity (the rules for entering time are below), and decide whether to mark the "Another attorney worked with me on this activity" box. When you are done, click the Save Button at the top of the screen or you'll lose the information you just entered.

Rules for Recording Time:

- If you want to record just in minutes (up to 99 minutes), just enter the minutes. Examples: 17, 4, 72.
- If you want to record in whole hours, enter the hours immediately followed by a colon (:) and nothing else. Examples: 8:, 2:, 12: (these will be converted to 8:00, 2:00, and 12:00 by the application).
- If you want to record in hours & minutes, enter the hours immediately followed by a colon (:) and immediately follow that with a two digit amount for the minutes. Examples: 8:15, 2:06, 12:58 (these will be converted to 8:15, 2:06, and 12:58 by the application).

Time Study Activity Types

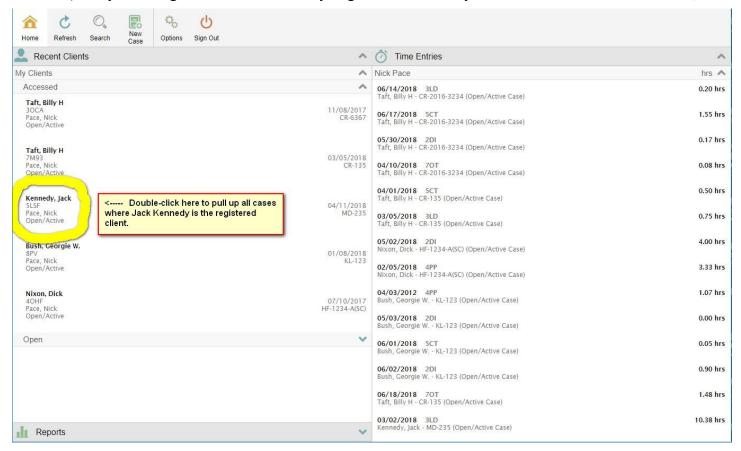

Description	Code	Explanation
Client Communication	1CC	 Any direct communication with clients including in-person visits in jails, prisons or holding facilities; by phone, letter, email or video If client is in custody, this includes all time in facility, including going through security and waiting to see client Includes meetings with clients in court
Discovery Review or Independent Investigation	2DI	 Reviewing discovery in whatever form provided. Requesting and reviewing other records received through independent investigation, including public, data, treatment, criminal history, adoption, HHS or CPS, etc. Drafting discovery and independent investigation requests, and memos of review of information received. Other active independent investigation, including research and identification of potential witnesses, correspondence with and interviews of lay witnesses, consulting and testifying experts, and other third parties. Any additional communication with anyone other than clients for the purposes of discovery review and independent investigation.
Legal Research or Drafting and Review of Court Documents	3LD	 Researching legal issues and questions relevant to case Reviewing statutes, caselaw, court rules or other legal authority relevant to case Drafting, editing, reviewing and filing legal documents, including motions, briefs, stipulations, subpoenas, witness lists, notices and legal memoranda Any communication with anyone other than clients for the purposes of legal research or drafting and review of court documents.
Plea Negotiations or Preparation for Motion Hearings, Trials, and Sentencings	4PP	Negotiation with prosecutors that occurs outside of court Preparation for an appearance in court, including reviewing motions, briefs and exhibits, and other court file documents. Preparing outlines or notes for argument Practice arguments, moot courts Witness preparation Any additional communication with anyone other than clients for the purposes of plea negotiation or preparation for hearings, trials and sentencings.
Court Time	5CT	 Time spent in court for hearings, and court-ordered conferences or meetings, including waiting time. Attending presentence interviews
Travel	6TR	All case-related travel, including to/from court, visits with clients, other case-related meetings, research or investigation events, etc.
Other	7OT	Any other case-specific activity, such as clerical work, media requests, property retrieval, post-sentence/appeals advice, open/closing of cases, supervision, etc.

- If you what you are doing would could fit into two or more of the categories (such as listing to wiretap recordings in your car while driving to your next court appearance), chose the first applicable category in the list (e.g, "Discovery Review" rather than "Travel").
- What do you do if the activity applies to more than one case? For example, you might have to drive two hours to a distant courthouse where you'll make an appearance in two separate cases. The easiest thing to do would be to split the travel time in half and submit one entry (for an hour) for the first case and a second entry (also for an hour) for the other case.

Entering Time Info for Other Registered Cases

If you want to switch to a different case for entering time on the Client Screen, you have two options. One way is to go back to the Home Page and click on the desired client's name on the left side of the screen. Clicking on any one of the client names shown in the example will bring you to the Client Screen for the client you've selected (and by choosing the "Time" tab when you get to that screen, you can then enter time information):

The other way to switch to a different case for entering time on the Client Screen is to click the Search Button at the top of most screens. You'll be taken to the Search Screen. We recommend that you then click the "Advanced" button on the extreme right to bring up a powerful search tool:

Entering partial words in any of the boxes on the Search Screen and then clicking the little search button immediately above the last name field will list all cases that fit the desired criteria. The screenshot below shows the result of a wildcard search on the last name field. Clicking on one of the five cases shown in the example will bring you to the Client Screen for the selected client (and by choosing the "Time" tab when you get to that screen, you can then enter time information):
